

A luxury seafood and cocktails ‘daycation’ in Richmond

If you can only spare one day to relax, then a new, Sunday Special break with Fishworks and The Bingham could be just the ‘daycation’ that you are looking for. The seafood Cookery School and South West London’s favourite boutique hotel have created a new mini break for discerning foodies, that combines seafood cuisine and cocktails in the beautiful setting of Richmond’s riverside and a night of luxury.

“This super treat is a little bit different from other short breaks, as you learn about seafood, get your apron on for some hands on cooking fun then eat all of the your dishes that you have prepared, before a relaxing stay in the sumptuous Bingham hotel” said Fishworks CEO Marija Simovic.

“If pupils from the Cookery School want to add a touch of luxury and relaxation after their busy day, the Bingham is the perfect choice” says Samantha Trinder, proprietor of the Bingham.

The Fishworks Cookery School Advanced Course is designed to boost confidence in fish preparation and extend seafood cooking ability. During the afternoon, guests will be taken through skills including filleting flat fish, cleaning squid and preparing lobster by Fishworks Head Chef Arezki Mouhoubi. Eating the dishes prepared with selected wines is all part of the Fishworks experience.

At 6pm guests depart for the Bingham for a complimentary cocktail, a luxurious night’s accommodation and breakfast.

Tucked away beside the Thames, the Bingham is one of London’s most enchanting boutique hotels. Originally built as two Georgian town houses, the Bingham’s rich history has shaped the property, creating an elegant setting for contemporary luxury living with a vintage twist.

The Bingham's breathtaking interior is combined with an unfaltering service reminiscent of a bygone time and incredible attention to detail. Timeless river vistas, a private terrace and landscaped garden complete this welcoming home away from home.

A double room at the Bingham and an Advanced Cookery Level Course at Fishworks would normally cost from £540 per couple, but as a special offer, the Sunday Special is available from £480 per couple when the Fishworks Advanced Level Cookery Course and Bingham accommodation are booked together.
